

The Oncology Student Interest Group (OSIG) Program seeks to develop the future oncology workforce and foster oncology exposure at medical schools in the U.S. and internationally. The program provides student interest groups with access to educational resources, specialized Annual Meeting opportunities, and funding to support the group’s activities and meetings.

Established in 2015, the program has grown from 30 groups in its first year, to 107 sponsored groups (25 international and 82 domestic) in the current year, with representation from 28 U.S. states/territories, with both D.C. and Puerto Rico represented, and 13 countries.
